REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The prior art of record do not anticipate nor do they reasonably suggest the cutter and method for cutting and method of assembling a cutter as claimed in claims 1, 22, and 25-30. The closest prior art, Karlis (US 5,638,730), discloses a plastic paper punch comprising all the elements claimed including, inter alia, a middle rigid cutter member (16); an outer flexible non-cutting jaw member comprising a first arm (14) and a second arm (12); and an attachment member (e.g. 29). Note Figs. 1-3. However, Karlis lacks the first and second receiving areas as claimed (claims 1, 22, 24, 25-26); a flexible non-cutting member as claimed and the plurality of cutting ribs (claims 27-30). In Karlis the receiving areas may be construed as points (at 28, 60, or 30 in Fig. 3). However, these areas are not the same areas as claimed since they are not located at the areas as claimed. The claimed receiving areas are the points enclosed by the rigid middle cutting member or the outside portion of the rigid middle. None exists in Karlis. With respect to the claimed outer flexible non-cutting member, in Karlis, the features relied on by the Examiner is not rigid as defined by the Applicant. It can be construed as being flexible to a degree but it is not the same as defined by the Applicant. In Karlis, it is made of hard plastic material and not soft as the claim infers in light of the arguments presented by the Applicant, and due to this teaching, there is no teaching or suggestion in Karlis nor any of the other prior art of record to modify the same. With respect to the plurality of cutting ribs in patterns, Karlis lacks this feature due to the fact that although the punches may form a pattern, the dies (the female portions) are not ribs that in a pattern. Moreover, with respect to the above points, none of the other prior art of record fairly teach or suggest these lacking features. Thus, it is believed that the claimed inventions with the lacking features in combination with all the other recited elements are allowable over the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
